VOL. XIX.]

TUESDAY, JULY 14, 1848.

[No. 5278.]

For the prevention and cure of
BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS
is recommended
Hahn's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS
THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than co-lums of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.
They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold it taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,
A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.

To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative, Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of Nervous Disorders Violent cramps in Consumptions the stomach and Lowness of spirits back Loss of appetite Indigestion Impurity of blood Melancholy Hysterical affection Gout in the stomach Inward weaknesses Pains in the limbs and debility Relaxations, &c.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, &c. &c.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.
Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaster.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing their root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.
So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water, A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of nature weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.
The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.

100 Dollars Reward.
RAN away from the subscriber's farm, near Piscataway, Md. on or about the 1st day of March, 1848, a dark mulatto man named Nick, five feet ten or eleven inches high, slender made, a little deaf, speaks a little through his nose, has been in the habit of wearing rings in his ears; but may have taken them out to avoid discovery. Said negro Nick has a wife on Mr. Thomas A. Diggs's land, near Fort Washington, and is probably harbored in that neighborhood. I will give the above reward of Thirty Dollars, if taken out of the State of Maryland, and Twenty if taken in the State, more than ten miles from home—within ten miles of home, Ten Dollars.

Fifty Dollars Reward.
THERE came to the stables of the subscriber, on Monday the 1st inst.
a person calling himself
Mr. PEYTON,
and obtained a horse and gig on hire, as he said, to go to Elliott's Mill, and return in the afternoon of the same day; and as he has not yet returned, there is strong reason to believe that his intention is to swindle me out of my property. He is about 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, apparently about 25 or 30 years of age, of genteel appearance, and well calculated to deceive.
The horse is a grey, about 15 hands high, 9 or 10 years old, has a switch tail, a speck on the right eye, and moves swiftly. The gig has a green body, carriage and wheels black, the lining of blue cloth, red stuff top, linings, plated double—outside joints.
I will give the above reward for the recovery of the horse and gig, and the detection of the scoundrel, or 50 dollars for the horse and gig only, and all reasonable expenses if delivered to me; No.
26, North Liberty street, Baltimore.

An Act
Incorporating a Company to establish a Turnpike Road from Wiley's Tavern, in the county of Fairfax, to a point of intersection on the Little River Turnpike Road, or on the line of the district of Columbia. Passed February 14, 1818.

BE it enacted by the General Assembly, that it shall be lawful to open books at Fairfax court-house, and in the town of Alexandria, under the direction of Francis Peyton, Augustine I. Smith, Wm. Moss, Johnston Cleveland, Amos Alexander, Mordecai C. Fitzhugh, Jonah Thompson, George Denale and James H. Tiose, or any three of them, for receiving subscriptions to the amount of sixty thousand dollars, for the purpose of making a turnpike road from Wiley's Tavern, in the county of Fairfax, to a point of intersection on the Little River Turnpike Road, or on the line of the district of Columbia, as shall be designated by the directors of the company herein after named.

From the New-England Galaxy.

It is the opinion of many good and sensible men that the time is not very remote, or perhaps is already come, when the minds of nations as well as individuals, are awakening to a view of the wickedness and indiscretion of war; that the vices which have produced it are on the decline, and that truth is bursting upon the world with an irresistible force, and with the weapons of reason and religion going forth conquering and to conquer. Without entering into any discussion on the justice or injustice of national warfare, or giving our opinion on the propriety of encouraging or discountenancing the military spirit, which in a considerable degree pervades our country, we publish the following little poem. The Peace Maker will be pleased with the sentiment which it enforces; and those who laugh at the efforts of peace societies will not deny it the character of good poetry.

THE HERO.

All hail to the hero whom victory leads,
Triumphant from fields of renown!
From kingdoms left barren, from plains
drenched in blood,
And the sacking of many a fair town.

His gore dripping sword shall hang high in the hall.
Never'd for the havoc it spread;
For the deaths it has dealt, for the terrors it struck,
And the torrents of blood it has shed.

His banners in haughty procession shall ride,
O'er Jehovah's pure altars unfurl'd; While anthems and priests wait to heaven his praise,
For the slaughter and wreck of a world.

Though widows and orphans together shall crowd
To gaze at heaven's dread rod, And mutter their curses and mingle their tears,
Invoking the vengeance of God;

Though while bloated revelry rages at his board,
Where surfeiting betacoms fume, Desolation and famine shall howl, and old earth
Her skeleton hordes shall intomb—

All ghastly and mangled from fields where they fell,
With horrible groanings and cries;
What though when he slumbers, the dead in their graves,
In dread visitation shall rise:

Yet he among heroes exalted shall sit,
And slaves to his splendour shall bend;
And Senators shall echo his virtues; and Kings
Shall own him their saviour and friend.

Then hail to the hero whom victory leads,
Triumphant from fields of renown;
From kingdoms left barren; from plains
drenched in blood,
And the sacking of many a fair town.

ALEXANDRIA: TUESDAY MORNING, JULY 14.

The uncertainty that prevails in the potions of mankind respecting humor in general, is as much owing to the complexional feelings of those acted upon as to the quality of the thing that passes for humor.
The most common opinion is, that whatever diverts or makes you laugh, is humor —and in proportion as men are more or less risible in their nature are they liberal in bestowing this appellation. To thoughtless, laughing fellows, therefore, he must be very dull who fails to seem a man of humor—and to a certain kind of half-witted gentry, who with the aid of a vacant head and a strong constitution is ever on the broad grin, he who can hold up a finger, is another Jo Miller. A merry fellow too, or a pleasant companion, as it is called, (and many a dull dog with a head as impenetrable as a mallet have I heard called so) never fails to obtain the character of a man of humor, among his acquaintance and admirers. Of this kind of persons, the qualifications are a facetious countenance, knowing leer of the eye, and some oddity in the voice; their performances are usually a merry catch, or a long story brazenly told, with a sting of some kind in the tail of it—whether the story be borrowed or not signifies little, provided it be not so familiarly known as to lose the power of creating surprise. The effect of the voice is astonishing. I have known in my time, actors who rose to great celebrity chiefly by having the good fortune to possess a voice more like the grunting of a pig than to a human sound; and others on whom a snuffle and sanctified face, at variance with the levity of their conversation, actually conferred the reputation of wits.

It would be an endless work, and deprive you, Mr. Editor, of all patience, were I to particularise every item in that inexhaustible repository of humor displayed in practical jests, the variety of which is endless, and which are in the highest repute with the vulgar. Tweaks by the nose—kicks on the seat of honor, pulling away a chair, so that the person intending to sit, may come down with a squelch on the ground—putting crackers into the fire or candle—beating the handle of the poker so as to burn the person who goes to stir the fire—snatching off a man's hat, or if he wears one, his wig, and all the different modes of boxing, have for time immemorial been dignified with the name of humor.

But there is another, and rather a too serious kind of humor on which I do not remember to have seen any remarks. I mean that tragical humor, which though it may tend to raise mirth in some damped good fellows, may be said to have its foundation in tears, and may possibly be the same that Bernard Lindott deplored the want of in the tragedy he had purchased.
As that species of humor which depends upon practical jests last spoken of, is produced by doing little jocose mischiefs to others, this tragical humor consists in afflicting men with the greatest and most serious evils; in a word, in ruining, tormenting, and destroying mankind. History abounds with examples of men who have eminently shone in this kind of humor.
Most of the great tyrants and conquerors of the world, have, notwithstanding their being very dull, got a vast reputation for humor in this way. Alexander the Great was thought to be highly gifted with this quality, of which we have a multitude of instances in the accounts of his Asiatic expedition. His burning the city of Persepolis was considered by his admirers as an exquisite piece of humor. And what were the reigns of Caligula and Claudius, of Nero and Domitian, of Commodus, Caracalla, Heliogabalus, and all those other imperial bucks and bloods of Rome, but great tragical farces, in which one half of mankind was, with infinite humor, put to death and tortures for the diversion of the other half?

Among humorous recreations of this kind I reckon the Autos de fe of the Inquisition, in which Jews, protestants, freemasons, old women suspected of witchcraft, and other heretics and demonias, have so often screamed and danced and capered in a great fire for the amusement of a rabble of the faithful, in popish countries.

But of all the performances of this kind that I find recorded in history, the most completely humorous and striking is the story of Phalaris and Perillus. The latter being desirous to recommend himself to the favor of the former, who was a great tyrant, and consequently a great lover of the tragical humor, acquainted his master that he had, with much invention and hard labor, contrived an entertainment for him, which would produce the highest sport and pastime. It was to be thus performed:— the artist had made the brazen image of a bull, into the belly of which a human creature was to be conveyed. The bull was then to be heated till it was red hot; by means of which the person inclosed within, suffering the most intolerable torments, would bellow in such a manner that the sound would very nearly imitate, or to speak in the present fashionable taste, would admirably mimic the roaring of a bull. Phalaris highly approved the project; but being himself a man of great humor, he was desirous to add something of his own to the joke. He therefore chose Perillus, the inventor, for the person on whom the first experiment was to be tried, and accordingly shut him up and roasted him in his own bull.

From this, I suppose, that pleasant humor called roasting was derived; for so, not only the term, but the thing seems to intimate; this diverting entertainment consists in giving all the torments possible to the object, and may indeed be called roasting him alive. Hence too the pleasant pastime, so fashionable with ladies, of roasting characters, may perhaps have taken its original. Hence also that vast torrent of humor which flows so plentifully throughout our newspapers, in the shape of every sort of libel, in which names the most worthy and deserving of honor and reverence are pointed out for ridicule and contempt, and roasted for the entertainment of the public.

To conclude, as Tully long ago said that there was no absurdity which some of the sophists had not, one time or other, maintained to be true philosophy, so there is no nonsense however contemptible, provided it be well dashed with abuse, scurrility and falseness, which will not pass with multitudes for true humor. CURIO.

MARBLEHEAD FISHERY.

The Salem Gazette gives a comparative and particular statement of the fish brought into Marblehead during the last and present seasons. The following is the total amount:—

Number of fish brought in last year	736,600
Number of fish brought in this year	159,700
Difference in favor of last year	896,300

A northern paper informs us, that the wife of Mr. Samuel Hoyt, of Scipio, (N.
York) was a few days since delivered of three living, healthy boys, who, together with the mother are likely to do well.

THE SURRENDER OF EASTPORT.

On the 30th ult. Moose, Frederick and Dudley Islands, were formally surrendered by the British commander to the American commissioners. The American colors were displayed at Eastport, and a national salute was fired on the occasion. On the same day the British troops evacuated the Island, and proceeded to St. Andrews.
The command of the fort was given to Lieutenant Marchant; and the custom house was immediately opened by Mr. Thatcher, the collector of the port. The American commissioners, general Miller and colonel Sargent, having performed the duties entrusted to their care, embarked at Eastport in the schooner General Brewer, on the 3d inst. and arrived at Boston on the 7th.

From the Boston Daily Advertiser.
THUMB SCREWS FOR MERCHANTS AND FET-TERS FOR COASTERS.

It has often been remarked, and it is believed with great truth, that there is no country in which the revenue has been so fairly collected, where the merchants have so readily co-operated with the government in the prevention of frauds, or where so few have been committed, as in the United States.

While it is necessary for the public security that all due checks should be imposed in the collection of the revenue, it is, at the same time, incumbent on our lawgivers to throw no obstruction in the path of commerce, which can possibly be avoided.

Some cases of fraud on the revenue, it has been said, have been practiced in the following manner: viz: A foreign merchant ships for account of B, of the U.
States, goods consigned to C, accompanied by false invoices. The Consignee ignorant of this fact, enters the goods, takes the usual oath, and afterwards hands them over to B, who by this arrangement avoids a direct perjury, and cheats the revenue of a part of the duties. To remedy this abuse, at the close of the last session of congress, when the members were weary by their labors and pressing toward their homes were unfitted for investigation and averse from delay, a new string of revenue laws were reported, passed without debate, and carried into immediate operation to the great injury and annoyance of the merchants, without any adequate benefit to the government.

The 6th section of the law, passed on the 20th of April, imports that no goods shall be admitted to an entry unless the real owner shall appear and make oath to their cost: that if he be not on the spot where the goods arrive, they shall be detained in the custom-house ware-houses, at his expense, until the original invoice can be transmitted to him, and his oath, duly attested by a notary public, and certified by the collector of the district where he may be found, shall have been procured, and brought back to the place of importation, and that if he should have happened to have left the country, or cannot be traced, that his goods shall be held for the term of four months, and then opened and appraised by persons appointed for that purpose.

Let us look to the practical effect of this law: A merchant residing at New-Orleans, having funds in the hands of another at St. Michaels, directs him to remit the amount in the produce of that Island to any part of the United States to which he can procure freight, giving him the address of his correspondents in the different ports.

In pursuance of these orders, a cargo of fruit is shipped (by the first and only vessel to be found) on account of B, of New-Orleans, consigned to C, at Boston.
The Consignee, on the arrival of the vessel, presents himself at the custom-house, exhibits his invoice, and is told that the cargo must be sent to the custom-house stores, and there remain until he sends the original invoice to the owner at New-Orleans, and produces the "oath and attestations" ordained by law. He represents that the goods are perishable and require an immediate sale; that the delay necessary to procure the attestations required, must involve a total loss of the property. "My office is merely ministerial; however hard the case, the law ordains this procedure," and the requisitions of the law must be complied with." It is asked what is to be the consequence if the original invoice, so transmitted, should be lost? If the mail in travelling to and from New-Orleans, three thousand miles should be robbed?
"At the expiration of four months, the secretary of the treasury will take your case into consideration." In the mean time, this cargo of fruit is ruined; the whole cargo, duties, freight and other charges are lost, in consequence of a law which could not have been foreseen, and which contrary to usage, reason and justice, is carried into effect from the day of its passing! Many other cases equally oppressive, could be adduced, where the operation of the law is no less visible to the most transient observer.

The 7th section ordains, that no goods imported and subject to duty re-shipped and transported coastwise, from one district to another, in the original packages, shall be admitted to an entry in such district, unless they shall be accompanied by a copy of the original invoice, sworn to by the importer and certified under the seal of the collector with whom the entry was first made, and that on their arrival at the port of destination they shall be subject to the same inspection as at the time of the original importation.

It would require more time than the writer of these remarks can bestow, to point out half the vexatious operations of this ill-advised law, to the importing merchant, or the impediment it offers to the prosecution of that most important branch of our commerce, the trade which has hitherto been carried on between district and district, state and state, and which has been the great support of our coasting navigation: a few remarks will suffice.

An importer having gone through all the inquisitorial process, the swearing and searchings enjoined by the 5th, 6th and 9th sections, at the time of his importations, gets possession of his goods and offers them for sale.

He disposes, for example, of a cargo of Calcutta, or China, or Russia goods, consisting of several thousand packages. The purchasers find it more for their interest to distribute them through the continent in small parcels, than offer them for sale at home: they are divided and shipped in single packages, to Salem, Portsmouth, Plymouth, New-Bedford, New-Port, Providence, New-York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Alexandria, Norfolk, North Carolina, South Carolina, Savannah, New-Orleans, &c.

In all these cases, (of hourly occurrence) the importer is dragged to the bar of the Customs, not only to repeat the oaths and assertations which he had previously made, but to exhibit again and again his invoice, to make copies of his invoices; to reiterate his oath; and perhaps his persecutions on the authors of his persecution. If he refuses to comply with these requisitions, the whole coasting trade is impeded; the goods cannot be transported from one district to another without seizure; they must be transported by land, or however unsuited to the market disposed of at home.

The impositions on the party engaged in the coastwise trade are no less burthen-some. He must hunt up the origin of every package he wishes to transport, trace it through all its windings up to the importer, or in case he cannot do this, (which is often impracticable) he must be deprived of the benefit of another market.
If he succeeds in discovering the name of the original importer, he may find that he has left the country, that he is on a journey, that he is sick, that he is dead, or that having learned to lie from having been so much accustomed to cheat, he becomes refractory, and declares that he is not in possession of the documents necessary to preserve the goods from seizure, that they're lost in a fire, or destroyed; or that weary with runnings to and the writings at the custom-house, copying his papers and repeating his oaths, he will not submit to this drudgery. Has the applicant or the government the power to compel him, or to make him responsible for the damages arising from his refusal? If so, as before observed, he is a bond slave! If not, what becomes of your coasting trade?

A trader from Portland purchases from the various shops in Cornhill a stock of dry goods, not in the original packages, but in single pieces; they are all cased up and embarked on board of a coaster: on their arrival they are detained for want of a tissue of evidence required by law. It is alleged that "the goods were purchased by retail and packed at Boston; that they are not in the "original packages," and therefore "not subject to the indications of the law." How is the collector to know and the same may be said of every other package: the goods must be detained until the owner can return to Boston and prove a negative.

This is no imaginary case. Many cases of actual occurrence might be cited. A trader of this town carried coastwise to Baltimore several boxes of China, imported several years past, some of which he had purchased in the shops, others at auction.
They were shipped previous to the enactment of this law, arrived one or two days after its passage, and were arrested by the custom house at Baltimore, on the plea that they were not accompanied by the invoices and certificates by a law passed only two days before! The owner came back to Boston, and after several days search, found out the importers, obtained the evidence of regular importation and finally procured the release of his goods. Apply this case to a vessel coming from New-Orleans, ignorant of a law not passed at the time of her sailing.
The consignee must send 1500 miles for the necessary papers to obtain the possession of his property.

It is daily asked "what is the object of the 7th section of the act of April? Is it an experiment on the patience of the commercial class; a trial how far he may be burdened and galled without wincing? Is it to prevent our coasters from receiving goods at sea from a foreign vessel and introducing them into the U. States free of duty?" If this latter be the design, why does it not apply to goods paying a specific duty, as well as those paying an ad valorem duty?
Coffee and sugar and pepper for instance, can be carried coastwise without the oaths and invoices, and certificates required to protect the latter. Can those articles be received at sea as well as dry goods?—If this be the case, the remedy is effectual, and the burthens imposed utterly useless.

The 10th section of this law enacts that "any merchant who shall be chosen by the Collector, or by the party in interest, to make any appraisement required by the act or under any other act respecting imports and tonnage, and who shall, after due notice, decline or neglect to assist at such appraisement, shall be subject to a fine of not more than 50 dollars, and to the costs of prosecution in any court of the United

Thus the collector or party in interest has it in his power to appoint capriciously or seditiously, any individual merchant to the performance of this task. He may say with great reason, that those who have had most experience are the best qualified for the duty—Mr. Gray and Mr. Thynckle, for instance, two of our most extended and oldest merchants. It may be true that they have other avocations, both of a public and private nature, which may render this occupation somewhat inconvenient; yet it must be remembered that private convenience is not to be pleaded; they must play or pay; the law allows it and the court awards it! Apropos! would not the appointment of these gentlemen as standing (private) appraisers, be an admirable expedient for helping the Revenue?

We are in justice bound to observe that the officers of the customs in this town, however vexed and perplexed they may have been by the operations of this law, have never lost sight of their characteristic urbanity in the execution of their duties.

Having touched on the most prominent features of the act of April 20th, I should conclude my remarks by joining in the general lamentation that the great body of our merchants and traders are liable to the imposition of grievous and unnecessary laws, for the want of practical experience of the part of those who enact them; and lastly that any merchant, being a member of Congress, and present at the passage of the act of the 20th of April, should not have foreseen its impracticability, and solemnly have protested against its impolitic, pernicious operation, is truly a matter of astonish-

and packed at Boston; that they are not in the "original package," and therefore "not subject to the indiction of the law." How is the collector to know this? The same may be said of every other package: the goods must be detained until the owner can return to Boston and prove a negative.

This is no imaginary case. Many others of actual occurrence might be cited. A trader of this town carried coastwise to Baltimore several boxes of China, imported several years past, some of which he had purchased in the shops, others at auction. They were shipped previous to the enactment of this law, arrived one or two days after its passage, and were arrested by the custom house at Baltimore, on the plea that they were not accompanied by the invoices and certificates by a law passed only two days before! The owner came back to Boston, and after several days search, found out the importers, obtained the evidence of regular importation and finally procured the release of his goods. Apply this case to a vessel coming from New-Orleans, ignorant of a law not passed at the time of her sailing! The consignee must send 1500 miles for the necessary papers to obtain the possession of his property.

It is daily asked "what is the object of the 7th section of the edict of April? Is it an experiment on the patience of the commercial class; a trial how far he may be burdened and galled without wincing? Is it to prevent our coasters from receiving goods at sea from a foreign vessel and introducing them into the U. States free of duty?" If this latter be the design, why does it not apply to goods paying a specific, as well as those paying an ad valorem duty? Coffee and sugar and pepper for instance, can be carried coastwise without the oaths and invoices, and certificates required to protect the latter. Can these articles be received at sea as well as dry goods?—If this be the case, the remedy is effectual, and the burthens imposed utterly useless.

The 10th section of this law enacts that "any merchant who shall be chosen by the Collector, or by the party in interest, to make any appraisement required by this act or under any other act respecting imports and tonnage, and who shall, after due notice, decline or neglect to assist at such appraisement, shall be subject to a fine of not more than 50 dollars, and to the costs of prosecution in any court of the United States."

Thus the collector or party in interest has it in his power to appoint capriciously or sordidly, any individual merchant to the performance of this task. He may say and with great reason, that those who have had most experience are the best qualified for the duty—Mr. Gray and Mr. Thwink, for instance, two of our most extended and oldest merchants. It may be true that they have other avocations, both of a public and private nature, which may render this occupation somewhat inconvenient; yet it must be remembered that private convenience is not to be pleaded; they must "play or pay;" the law allows it and the court awards it! Appropos! would not the appointment of these gentlemen as standing (private) appraisers, be an admirable expedient for helping the Revenue?

We are in justice bound to observe that the officers of the customs in this town have been vexed and perplexed at this law, have never lost sight of their characteristic urbanity in the execution of their duties. Having touched on the most prominent though by no means the only objectionable features of the edict of April 20th, I should conclude my remarks by joining in the general lamentation that the great body of our merchants and traders are liable to the imposition of grievous and unnecessary laws, for the want of practical information of the part of those who enact them; and lastly that any merchant, being a member of Congress, and present at the passage of the act of the 20th of April, should not have foreseen its impracticability, and solemnly have protested against its impolitic, pernicious operation, is truly a matter of astonishment. A MERCHANT.

600 acres of Land for sale.

THIS Tract is situated in Westmoreland county, Virginia, adjacent to Mr. Garrett Hunter's Plantation, and contiguous to the waters of the Potomac. The neighborhood is good—water excellent, and very desirable situations for building. A considerable proportion of the land is well timbered, besides a good deal of cedar, pine and other wood, sufficiently convenient to make it an object for those who may be disposed to tend it to market—it is nearly equi-distant from Baltimore, Washington and Norfolk. Any one wishing to purchase may apply to
ROGER JONES,
Also, a very valuable LOT, containing 140 acres, being a part of the late Mr. John Turberville's tract—within 6 miles of Georgetown, 3 from the Little Falls Bridge, and near to the turnpike leading from thence to Wiley's, in Fairfax county, Va. A great proportion of this land is exceedingly well timbered, and that part which is not, is so recently cleared as to be in an active state for cultivation, and already in a productive condition. For terms, apply to PHILIP C. JONES, esq. in Leesburg, Va. or to R. JONES.

Land for Sale.

THE Subscriber wishes to dispose of the whole or a part of a tract of LAND, containing between 6 and 700 acres, lying within 5 miles of Alexandria and 4 and a half from the Washington bridge, and divided into four parts by the Leesburg road and the turnpike from the Washington bridge to the Little River turnpike. No. 1 contains about 60 acres, has a fine orchard and some young wood, and is partly enclosed.—No. 2, containing about 80, and No. 3 about 150 acres, lay nearest to Alexandria, and are entirely covered with a young growth of hickory and oaks with some wood—these three parts lay admirably for cultivation, and the latter has on it one of the finest springs in the county. No. 4 has on it a two story frame house with two large rooms on a floor, kitchen, laundry and smoke house; together with several tenements, one of which, situated at the junction of the two roads, is an excellent wagon stand, well known by the name of Bont's Tavern. There are on it also, several orchards, some fine springs, and a never failing stream sufficient for water works; part of it is in cultivation and tolerably well enclosed, with a sufficiency of wood. The three first parts may be had separately, or the whole together at a very moderate price, on the following terms, viz. One-fourth cash—one-fourth on the first September next, and the balance in two equal annual payments thereafter, with interest.—Possession will be given the purchaser immediately. The title is good and free from encumbrance. The premises will be shown by J. B. M'Farling, living thereon, and any application directed to me, in Washington City, will be attended to.

Charles County Court,

March Term, 1818.

ON application to Charles county court by petition in writing of John Smith, of Charles county, for the benefit of the act of assembly for the relief of sundry insolvent debtors, passed at November session 1805, and the several supplements thereto, on the terms mentioned therein. a schedule of his property and a list of his creditors on oath, so far as he can ascertain them, being annexed to his petition, and the court being satisfied by competent testimony that the said John Smith has resided two years immediately preceding the time of his application, in the state of Maryland, and being also satisfied that the said John Smith is in actual confinement for debt, and the said John Smith having entered into bond with sufficient security for his personal appearance in Charles county court, to answer such allegations as his creditors may make against him.—It is therefore ordered and adjudged that the said John Smith be discharged from imprisonment; and that by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some one of the newspapers edited in the District of Columbia, once a week for two months successively before the third Monday of August next, he give notice to his creditors to appear before the said Court, at Charlestown, in said county, on the said third Monday of August next, for the purpose of recommending a trustee for their benefit, and to show cause why the said John Smith should not have the benefit of the several insolvent laws as prayed. ## Dr. Thomson's System of Chemistry.

IN FOUR VOLUMES OCTAVO.

THE preceding edition of Dr. Thomson's Chemistry, had acquired so much reputation both in England and upon the continent of Europe, that a new edition, comprising the new facts with which the science had been enriched, and the new views of the subject which extended knowledge had suggested as indispensable, was eagerly looked for by the scientific world. A new edition has accordingly appeared, wherein the former edition of five volumes has been condensed into four.

All the new discoveries, and all the new theories of Chemical Phenomena, have been considered and embraced in the present improved edition: so that it is indispensable to the chemical student, as presenting the only condensed view of the changes and alterations in chemical doctrine, which the discoveries of the last ten years have suggested. No apology therefore can be necessary for reprinting such a book in this country; for the press does not furnish a substitute for it. But, there is so much theoretical suggestion—so much abstruse calculation—so much fact of dubious authority—and so much dubious validity—that notes and illustrations are absolutely necessary, not merely to render the book more useful, but more intelligible.

Under these impressions, I thought fit to write notes in illustration (and sometimes in contradiction) of the work itself, rather than to make any abridgement of it. Those who wish to know the modern views of chemical science, must peruse it; and to very many who will be anxious to study it, elucidation will be necessary. I have endeavored to supply these, to the best of my ability; regardless whether my own opinions are in dissonance or coincidence with those of my author; leaving to the reader to decide between us.

The work will be published, with notes and illustrations, in four volumes 8vo.
THOMAS COOPER, M. D.
CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be printed on a superfine paper, with a new small pica letter; and will be published early in the ensuing summer.

II. It will be illustrated with a number of cuts, of which several have been necessarily added to the London edition.

III. It will be delivered to subscribers at $12—to non-subscribers at $14, in boards. The London edition sells for $18.

James Kennedy & Son,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from LEE'S MEDICINE STORE, No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it can not injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or gripping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is four or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mild est purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Terebr or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbit or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tania or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fetid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS and MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended HAHN'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds—which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance; they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.
